Library Services, Collections, & Resources

The U of T Mississauga Library, located in the Hazel McCallion Academic Learning Centre, offers an extensive collection of print items, maps, and audio visual materials, including VHS and DVD titles across the humanities, science and social science disciplines, as well as networked electronic resources in a wired and wireless environment. Please see the Library’s website for information regarding borrower privileges and Library policies or call (905) 828-5236 for additional information.

The Library’s Faculty & Staff Portal and Student Portal provide access to library information and resources, including access to the Library Catalogue, Article Databases, Scholars Portal, as well as many additional services and resources.

The Library provides a wide range of research, information, instruction, instructional technology, GIS, and data services. Services are delivered in person, via email (askutml.utm@utoronto.ca), or via our Ask UTM Library instant messaging service. In-depth consultations are also available: a) for faculty to provide teaching support for instruction in information and library research competencies (customized library sessions and print or web-based support resources may be designed on request) and/or build the Library’s Collections or b) for students to provide in-depth research assistance. Please call (905) 828-5327, go to the Research Consultation Service web page to make an appointment, or refer to the list of Liaison Librarians.

Emphasizing people space over collection space, the Library provides a vibrant, welcoming, comfortable, safe, and environmentally friendly place where staff engages students, faculty, and staff in providing a proactive, expert, and personalized learning environment. There are nineteen group study rooms that can be reserved through the Library's web-based room booking application, in addition to a generous supply of study carrels, lounge seating, study tables, computer workstations, and bench and window counter seating.

The U of T Mississauga Library provides Geographic Information Services (GIS) and Instructional Technology Services for Faculty. For further information contact the GIS & Data Librarian at (905) 828-3886, the Instruction Services Coordinator at (905) 828-3885, or the Instructional Technology Liaison Librarians at (905) 569-4981 or (905) 828-3884 (or see relevant areas of our website to learn more about these services).
Library Hours

Library hours are posted at the entrance, or can be obtained by telephone at 905/828-5236, or on the Library’s website.

Library Code of Conduct

The purpose of the U of T Mississauga Library is to support the pursuit of academic success and learning. The Library Code of Conduct was created to ensure quiet and safety for everyone using the Library.

Resource Sharing

Faculty and students have access to the wealth of collections of other libraries in the University Library system and around the world through Resource Sharing. Our new self serve service enables you to request items from other University of Toronto libraries and world-wide directly through the library catalogue. For additional information about the Resource Sharing Department and its activities, please call 905/828-3881.

Reserves & eReserves

To arrange for course material to be placed on Reserve (Short Term Loan) please contact a Liaison Librarians or send email to reserves@utm.utoronto.ca. Because some material may need to be ordered, please submit your requests as early as possible before the start of the term to ensure the availability when the readings are assigned. We also post course notes, sample test and answers to assignments, and past final exams electronically through our ERes (Electronic Reserves) service at eres.utm.utoronto.ca.
