

Anthropology
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
MISSISSAUGA

Closing Date: June 15, 2023

Job Category: Faculty - Teaching Stream, Limited Term Appointment (67%), Anthropology of Health

Faculty/Division: University of Toronto Mississauga

Department: Anthropology

Campus: University of Toronto Mississauga

The Department of Anthropology (<https://www.utm.utoronto.ca/anthropology/>) at the University of Toronto Mississauga (<https://www.utm.utoronto.ca/>), invites applications for a two (2) year, part-time (67%) Limited Term Lecturer position in the field of the Anthropology of Health beginning July 1, 2023, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have a PhD in Anthropology, or a related field, with a focus on human biology of health, biological impacts of social inequities, and theory and methods applicable to the human biology of health. Applicants must also have teaching experience at the undergraduate level, and a comprehensive foundation in the field. The successful candidate will be expected to teach four semester-long courses at the undergraduate level (i.e.: two half courses in each the Fall and Spring terms), mentor undergraduate students, and contribute in service roles within the department.

Evidence of excellence in teaching and a commitment to excellent pedagogical inquiry can be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, awards and accolades, presentations at significant conferences, the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application (with required materials outlined below) as well as strong letters of reference from referees of high standing.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching, and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates must therefore submit a brief (up to two page) statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on equity-seeking communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from equity-seeking groups.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by submitting the required documents below to carolyn.loos@utoronto.ca with the subject line "Anthropology of Health LTA". Applications must include:

- a cover letter;
- a current curriculum vitae;
- a detailed teaching dossier including a statement of teaching philosophy, a summary of teaching experience, interests, and accomplishments, sample syllabi, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations;
- a statement of contributions to equity, diversity, inclusion, and accessibility (as outlined above); and,
- three letters of reference, to be submitted by the referees (see below).

Anthropology
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

M I S S I S S A U G A

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. Please ask your referees to send their letters to the Department of Anthropology by emailing carolyn.loos@utoronto.ca. Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references are submitted (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date. At least one reference letter must primarily address the candidate's teaching. All application materials must be submitted via email to carolyn.loos@utoronto.ca. To receive full consideration, applications should be received by June 15, 2023.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto embraces Diversity and is building a culture of belonging that increases our capacity to effectively address and serve the interests of our global community. We strongly encourage applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our academic mission.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact carolyn.loos@utoronto.ca.