French teacher-candidates and graduate students who studied language teaching theories and practices integrate their knowledge in creating innovative, effective, and fun activities to teach French in naturalistic and intuitive ways. Our campers are first divided into small age groups to ensure the optimal learning environment. All learning activities are then offered in different language proficiency levels to target divers language levels and experiences of each camper. Daily creativity workshops, culturally and academically rich learning tasks and games, as well as physical activities including daily swimming, aim to inspire greater appreciation for the French language and Francophone cultures of the world.
