Job Description:

The Centre for Child Development, Mental Health, and Policy (CCDMP) at the University of Toronto Mississauga (Director: Tina Malti; see www.utm.utoronto.ca/ccdmp) is seeking a part-time programmer. This person will work closely with our IT staff and leadership team to support the CCDMP's research projects and goals.

This role is a remote work position with occasional in-person meetings. Expected hours of work is 12-15 hours per week.

Duties and Responsibilities:

Roles and responsibilities may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Developing a website to host research assessment tools
- Integrating novel features to report results of online assessments in real time
- Developing login and security features for online assessments
- Working closely with the CCDMP IT staff and Managing Director
- Creating interactive dashboards to visualize data

Qualifications:

- Majoring or Specializing in Computer Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga
- Front- and back-end programming/coding experience (prior Django and Python experience is a plus)
- Organized, conscientious, reliable, flexible, and independent
- Able to work in teams
- Handle confidential data securely and sensitively
- Experience working on related projects
- Experience in data analysis and/or visualization is a plus but not a necessity
- Some background in psychology is advantageous, but not necessary

Application:

Please send the following application materials in a single PDF (file name: FirstName LastName_Programmer) to ccdmp@utoronto.ca (Job ID 228514 – Programmer):

- Cover letter (including year of study, a statement of interest, and relevant experience)
- Resume or curriculum vitae
- Academic transcript (unofficial screenshots from ROSI/ACORN are acceptable)

Interviewed students will be expected to provide 1-2 references speaking to their technical ability. Deadline to apply is October 15, 2023.

We thank all applicants for their interest; however, only those selected for interview will be contacted.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially applications from Indigenous Peoples, Black and racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, and people of diverse sexual and gender identities. We value applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion and recognize that diverse perspectives, experiences, and expertise are essential to strengthening our mission.

If you require accommodations during the application and/or interview process, please contact us at ccdmp@utoronto.ca.
