Your honour thesis project is the ultimate expression of your Specialist degree in Geography. It will demonstrate your independence and communication skills to potential future employers or graduate supervisors. It will provide a sense of achievement like no other in your University Program because it is YOUR idea, YOUR research, YOUR accomplishment.

- Learn by doing.
- Research skills can be applied towards graduate school.
- Communication skills you can demonstrate to future employers.
- Participation in the research process with faculty and graduate students.
- Reference letters from professors with whom you have developed a strong working relationship and shown your strengths get you jobs and into graduate school.

Students wishing to enroll in GGR417Y must first apply to an appropriate supervisor and have a project topic approved.

Please see http://www.utm.utoronto.ca/geography/field-internship-and-thesis-courses for more information on the application process and a list of potential topics.