The University of Toronto Mississauga Equity, Diversity & Inclusion Office (EDIO) provides equity, Indigenous, and human rights related programs and services to students, staff, faculty, and librarians at UTM.
(<https://www.utm.utoronto.ca/edio>)

Equity Unit

Promotes equitable and inclusive learning, living, research, and working environments through educational programming, community building and engagement, policy advice and interpretation, systemic change initiatives, and complaint resolution assistance with concerns of discrimination or harassment.

Indigenous Initiatives Unit

Builds, enhances, and maintains Indigenous presence at UTM and with Indigenous communities external to UTM. Working closely with the University of Toronto Office of Indigenous Initiatives, the unit advances Answering the Call: Wecheehetowin at UTM the university's response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada. Through the UTM Indigenous Centre (www.utm.utoronto.ca/indigenous-centre), supports are provided to Indigenous students, staff, faculty, and librarians at UTM as well as promoting inclusion of Indigenous peoples throughout the campus.

During the pandemic it is best to email (family.care@utoronto.ca) or phone our office as staff are working remotely.

The Family Care Office supports you and your family life as you learn and work. We serve the University of Toronto students, staff, faculty and their partners, providing confidential guidance, resources and educational programming related to family issues. Students come to us for individual and confidential guidance on issues related to becoming a parent, pregnancy and parental leave if they have a position on-campus, child care, parenting, relationships, eldercare and other family matters. We have student mentors to share their experience with other student parents and carers.

The IMI Graduate Student Committee (IMI GSC) is comprised of representatives from 6 IMI programs: MMPA, MMI, MBIotech, MScSM, MUI, and MScBMC*.

As a student led group, the aim of IMI GSC is to create an interdepartmental community where graduate students from all corners of science, business and technology can build connections and broaden their networking circles. Individual programs at IMI do an excellent job at giving their students an exposure to the workforce, through alumni events, internships, and interactive class projects etc. The GSC enhances these program strengths, and is committed to furthering the student experience by offering cross disciplinary interactions and conversations.

Our goal is to give students an opportunity to broaden their networking circles and build contacts with current and future IMI graduate students.

Stay tuned for the events that will be hosted by IMI GSC coming in Fall 2021!

The Institute for Management & Innovation Review by Students (IMIRS, read like immerse) is a cross-departmental student publication aimed to share exciting research, industry trends and op-eds within and outside of IMI. We are dedicated to increasing collaboration and communication between our programs, alumni, and faculty. The underlying idea is knowledge translation of current topics in individual research streams as they apply to the world outside of our classrooms. The review encourages students to reimagine their program learnings, publish their high-quality academic work, and celebrate IMI students' innovative thinking.

Our Mission

As the Department of Recreation, Athletics and Wellness, we will:

- Create a friendly and safe environment that promotes equity, diversity and inclusion while welcoming our diverse community to participate in physical activity.
- Offer a continuum of programming, everything from casual recreation to varsity/excellence.
- Foster an environment of respect and fairness that promotes individual pride and UTM spirit.
- Develop a wide range of opportunities for student leadership in support of our programs.
- Play an integral role in the learning environment of the university campus and community life.

Equity and Accessibility

The Department of Recreation, Athletics and Wellness strives to create and maintain a friendly, safe and inclusive environment that welcomes our diverse community to participate in our wide variety of activities

In the RAWC, many features were designed in an effort to remove barriers to participation. For example, automatic doors, accessible washrooms, a pool lift and an elevator. Our state-of-the-art athletic facility is equipped with Upper Body Ergometers, recumbent bikes and a wide range of different resistance training equipment that can be adapted to accommodate a variety of different accessibility considerations. We have an all gender/ privacy change facility located between the female and male change rooms - with large private change cubicles, washrooms and direct access to the pool deck to accommodate the diverse needs of our patrons.

The RGASC provides a range of programming to help students identify and develop academic and professional skills. Graduate students can make individual appointments with writing instructors and career counsellors to discuss current and future projects, applications and proposals, specific and general skills, and much more. Graduate students from any discipline and at any stage of their work can also join a facilitated weekly writing group. The RGASC offers a series of workshops focussed on success in and after graduate school, dealing with topics such as data visualisation, writing a grant proposal, equitable grading, oral presentations, and networking. Graduate professional development is also the focus of the Graduate Professional Development Conference (GPDC), which takes place once in the fall and once in the winter, and usually features a panel of UTM alumni.

Don't see something that you'd like to see offered? Graduate students are invited to request workshops and sessions on specific topics.

Unsure who to contact? General inquiries to the RGASC can be directed to academicskills.utm@utoronto.ca.

The Sustainability Office at UTM is responsible for promoting and maintaining a broad range of sustainability initiatives through the engagement of the UTM community. Whether your particular interests fall under the broad categories of transportation, academics & curriculum, research, energy and climate change, waste and recycling, general conservation or community engagement, there are plenty of ways to get involved in sustainability initiatives on campus. The Office oversees various programs including Green Building Tours, Nature Tours, Bike Share, and the Repair Café while also working with departments and groups across campus to organize and promote sustainability programs, policies and events that help bring awareness to environmental conservation. More information is available at: www.utm.utoronto.ca/green/. Additionally, to keep up to date on the latest environmental news and events at UTM, follow us on Twitter and Instagram.
