

Ruhui Ni: Dr. Ruhui Ni received her Ph.D. degree in Educational Psychology and Educational Technology from the College of Education at Michigan State University. Her research interests include technology for language teaching and learning, gaming and language learning, technology adoption in schools and comparative education. She teaches Chinese as second language and courses in the area of second language teaching and learning.