The University of Toronto Mississauga (UTM) Calendar provides information concerning admission policy, together with descriptions of the content of courses offered in Political Science and other disciplines. This brochure is intended to be a supplement to the Calendar. Since it is published several months before the start of term, it cannot take account of late changes in course offerings or instructors. Details of any such changes will be announced on the UTM web page https://student.utm.utoronto.ca/calendar/calendar.pl/

The Department of Political Science at UTM offers its students the chance to customize their degrees to their personal interests, to explore the latest topics in politics with the latest teaching methods, and to learn from internationally renowned scholars. Our faculty members have a diverse and exciting range of research interests and specializations, from International Relations to political economy, from Environmental Politics to the study of conflict and genocide. This exceptional strength in research permeates our curriculum, and we pride ourselves on the broad and stimulating range of courses we are able to offer our students. The Department strives to encourage graduates not only to become “thinkers,” but to develop an extensive portfolio of practical skills transferable to many careers: research analysis, communication, presentation, time management and writing skills.

Political Science Club
PSLA is a society that communes to help students enrolled in the Department of Political Science, are taking a course in Political Science, are interested in politics, and/or would like to apply to law school in the future. PSLA offers these students an out of classroom experience to immerse themselves into the world of politics and law. This is done through the execution of events and guest lectures [such as mooting opportunities, networking opportunities, trips to courthouses, trips to Ottawa, mock LSATs, etc.]. They also provide assistance to students for editing essays and studying for midterms and exams. Students can expect PSLA to offer resources, host events, and to be a channel of communication for any concerns/suggestions they may have about the Department of Political Science.

Registration at UTM

To register for 2017-18 courses students can obtain a Registration Information Guide from the Registrar’s office or by visiting the UTM web page at:

http://www.utm.utoronto.ca/reg

ACORN (Accessible Campus Online Resource Network)
Online enrolment services

Students have access to a variety of enrolment services through the U of T’s Accessible Campus Online Resource Network (ACORN). Within established deadlines, students can use ACORN to add, wait-list and cancel (drop) courses, change sections, list current courses, obtain final grades, and confirm intention to graduate. Students using ACORN can view their entire academic record, request or declare programs (minors, majors, specialists), order transcripts, print tax forms, print invoices and view their financial account balances and detailed charge and payment information. Refer to the Registration Guide (www.utm.utoronto.ca/guides) and www.acorn.utoronto.ca for further information.

Registration Period Begins:

1st Year – July 7
2nd Year – June 16
3rd Year – June 2
4th Year – May 19

*Note: Enrolment periods may vary slightly between St.George and UTM.

Enrolling in St. George Courses

The Department of Political Science at the St. George Campus usually accommodates UTM students wishing to enroll in its upper-year courses and in most instances gives UTM students equal priority with St. George students. The following restrictions apply to UTM students wishing to enroll in St. George courses:

- You must have completed 4.0 credits at U of T Mississauga by the end of the Summer Session to be eligible to enrol in courses at other U of T campuses. If you register, but do not have 4.0 credits, you will be removed from the courses. Non-degree visiting students at U of T Mississauga may not take courses at other campuses.

If you want to enrol in courses offered at the St. George (downtown Toronto) campus or the Scarborough campus, check their respective enrolment instructions because many courses restrict enrolment and have limited space for U of T Mississauga students. You may add St. George and Scarborough campus courses from August 12 to September 19 (F & Y courses) and until January 15 (S courses).

POL 300-series (P) courses

Between July 9 to July 29, enrolment is limited to students registered in a POL program (Specialist, Joint Specialist, Major or Minor). Starting August 12, the courses will be open to any UTM student with the prerequisite.

POL 400-series (PE) courses

For most 400-series courses during the first round of enrolment (May 15 to July 29) only 4th year POL Specialists and Joint POL Specialists may enrol; UTM students are given the same priority as St George students. A few courses are restricted to only St. George students.

Associate Professor and Chair Edward Schatz

Degrees  Ph.D.  University of Wisconsin
          M.A.   University of Wisconsin
          B.A.   Yale University

Edward Schatz is an Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Toronto. He is interested primarily in identity politics, social transformations, social movements, anti-Americanism, and authoritarianism with a focus on the ex-USSR, particularly Central Asia. His publications include an edited volume, Political Ethnography (U. Chicago Press, 2009), and Modern Clan Politics (U. Washington Press, 2004), as well as articles in Comparative Politics, Slavic Review, International Political Science Review, Ethnic and Racial Studies, Nationalism and Ethnic Politics, and other academic journals. His current projects include a book on the United States as a symbol and actor in Central Asia and a study of authoritarianism in Central Asia. The American Political Science Association selected Professor Ed Schatz as the co-recipient of the Giovanni Sartori Book Award for his work, Political Ethnography: What Immersion Contributes to the Study of Power. The book, a collection of original essays edited by Professor Schatz, demonstrates how ethnography is uniquely suited for illuminating political science.

Associate Professor and Associate Chair

Lee Ann Fujii

Degrees  Ph.D.  George Washinton Univeristy
          M.A.   San Francisco State Univeristy
          B.A.   Reed College

Research interests include: Political violence, ethnicity and race, African politics (especially Rwanda and the Great Lakes), and field methods. She is the author of Killing Neighbors: Webs of violence in Rwanda (Cornell University Press, 2009) and is currently researching her second book, which is on local involvement in violence in three very different sites of killing (Bosnia, Rwanda, and the United States).

Her articles have appeared in Perspectives on Politics, Journal of Peace Research, and Qualitative Research, among other venues. Her work has been supported by SSHRC, the United States Institute of Peace, the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Fulbright, NCEEER, and the Russell Sage Foundation.
Associate Professor Andrea Olive

Degrees  Ph.D.  Purdue University
M.A.  Dalhousie University
B.A.  University of Calgary

Professor David Wolfe

Degrees  Ph.D.  University of Toronto
M.A.  Carleton University
B.A.  Carleton University

Professor Ronald Beiner

Ronald Beiner is a Professor of Political Science at the University of Toronto and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. In 1982 he published an edition of Hannah Arendt's Lectures on Kant's Political Philosophy (foreign-language editions have appeared or are forthcoming in 15 other languages). He is the author of Political Judgment (1983); What's the Matter with Liberalism? (1992); Philosophy in a Time of Lost Spirit (1997); Liberalism, Nationalism, Citizenship (2003); Civil Religion (2011); and Political Philosophy: What It Is and Why It Matters (2014). His other edited or co-edited books include Democratic Theory and Technological Society (1988); Kant and Political Philosophy (1993); Theorizing Citizenship (1995); Theorizing Nationalism (1999); Canadian Political Philosophy (2001); and Judgment, Imagination, and Politics (2001).

Assistant Professor Emily Nacol

Emily Nacol is a political theorist whose research interests lie primarily in early modern political thought and and political economy. She works especially on problems of risk and uncertainty in early modernity. Emily's first book, An Age of Risk: Politics and Economy in Early Modern Britain, was published in 2016, and now she is working on a new project on politics, labor, and risk in eighteenth-century Britain. She has held research fellowships at Brown University's Political Theory Project and the Cornell University Society for the Humanities, and at Toronto she looks forward to teaching a range of courses in the history of political thought as well as thematic courses on capitalism, commerce, and risk.
Assistant Professor Sara Hughes

Degrees  Ph.D.  University of California, Santa Barbara
M.Sc.  Michigan State University
B.Sc.  Michigan State University

Sara Hughes is an Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Toronto. Her research focuses on urban politics, the institutions of local government, urban environmental policy, and the politics of local climate change response. In 2013 Sara was named a Clarence N. Stone Scholar by the urban politics section of the American Political Science Association. Current projects examine the implementation of climate change policy in Toronto, Los Angeles, and New York City; transitions in urban waste management; the determinants of policy attention in local governments; and building capacity for adaptation in cities. Recent publications include, “Authority Structures and Service Reform in Multilevel Urban Governance,” in Urban Affairs Review, “Triple Exposure: Regulatory, climatic and political drivers of water management changes in the city of Los Angeles,” in Cities, and, “Science and Institution Building in Urban Climate Change Policy Making,” in Environmental Politics. Sara holds a PhD in Environmental Science and Management from the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Assistant Professor Alexander Reisenbichler

Degrees  Ph.D.  (in progress)  George Washington University
M.A.  George Washington University
B.A.  University of Leipzig

Alexander Reisenbichler is an assistant professor of West European politics at UTM. His work explores the politics of housing, financial, and labor markets in advanced economies, with regional specializations in Western Europe and the United States. Alexander’s current research investigates how public policies shape the political economies of homeownership in the United States and Germany from a comparative, historical perspective. For this research, he has received support from the Horowitz Foundation for Social Policy, the Free University Berlin’s Program for Advanced German and European Studies, and the Johns Hopkins University’s American Institute for Contemporary German Studies. Parts of this project have also been recognized by the American Political Science Association’s European Politics & Society section (Best Paper Award in 2017). His work has appeared in Politics & Society, the Review of International Political Economy, Foreign Affairs, and Cityscape.
Assistant Professor Shivaji Mukherjee

Degrees  Ph.D., M.Phil. Yale
M.A. University of Michigan
M.A. Jawaharlal Nehru University
B.A. Hindu College, University of Delhi

Shivaji's research interests lie at the intersection of state formation, civil conflict, and political economy of development. He worked as a Research Assistant at the Institute for Conflict Management in New Delhi, and then did an MA in Political Science at University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and a PhD in political science at Yale University. His dissertation is on the Maoist insurgency in India, and uses data gathered during field work, archival data and quantitative analysis of sub national datasets to demonstrate that colonial institutions of indirect rule selected by the British set up the structural conditions for post colonial insurgency through path dependent mechanisms. Shivaji hopes to work in the future on state formation, the use of different kinds of counter insurgency strategy by the Indian state, and also various aspects of the Maoist insurgency, and other ethnic insurgencies in India.

Professor Aurel Braun

Degrees  Ph.D. London School of Economics
M.A. University of Toronto
B.A. University of Toronto

Assistant Professor Erin Tolley

Degrees
Ph.D. Queen’s University
M.A. University of Western Ontario
B.A. University of Saskatchewan

Erin Tolley is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto. Her research examines the impact of socio-demographic diversity on Canadian politics and political institutions. She is the author of Framed: Media and the Coverage of Race in Canadian Politics (UBC Press, 2016). Her current projects include an analysis of candidate recruitment and selection by Canada's political parties, an experimental study of the impact of race and gender on vote choice, and an examination of media coverage of immigrants and refugees. Her work has appeared in the Canadian Journal of Political Science, the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies, and Migration Policy Research; she is the author or co-author of 12 peer-reviewed book chapters, and the co-editor of five books. Dr. Tolley earned her PhD from Queen's University where she was a Trudeau Foundation Scholar and SSHRC Canada Graduate Scholar. Prior to joining UofT, she was a researcher and policy analyst in the Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

Professor Steven Bernstein

Degrees
PhD., M.A. University of Toronto
B.A. University of Western Ontario

Steven Bernstein is Professor, Associate Chair and Graduate Director in the tri-campus Graduate Department of Political Science and Co-Director of the Environmental Governance Lab at the Munk School of Global Affairs, University of Toronto. His research spans the areas of global governance and institutions, global environmental politics, non-state forms of governance, international political economy, and internationalization of public policy. Publications include Unsettled Legitimacy: Political Community, Power, and Authority in a Global Era (co-edited, 2009); Global Liberalism and Political Order: Toward a New Grand Compromise? (co-edited, 2007); A Globally Integrated Climate Policy for Canada (co-edited, 2007) and The Compromise of Liberal Environmentalism (2001); as well as many articles in refereed academic journals, including European Journal of International Relations, Science, Review of International Political Economy, Journal of International Economic Law, International Affairs, Canadian Journal of Political Science, Policy Sciences, Regulation and Governance, and Global Environmental Politics. He was also a convening lead author and member of the Global Forest Expert Panel on the International Forest Regime and a consultant on institutional reform for the “Rio +20” UN Conference on Sustainable Development and its follow-up.
Assistant Professor Noel Anderson

Degrees  Ph.D.  Massachusetts Institute of Technology
        B.A.  University of Toronto

Professor Richard Day

Degrees  Ph.D.  University of London
        B.A., M.A., Dip. R.E.E.S.  Toronto

Associate Professor, Teaching Stream
Mark Lippincott

Degrees
Ph.D. University of Toronto
M.A. University of Delaware
B.A. University of Delaware

Assistant Professor Randy Besco

Degrees
Ph.D. Queen’s University
M.A. Queen's University
B.A. Univeristy of Waterloo

Previously, Randy earned his PhD from Queen's University and was a Visiting Research Fellow at the Center for Race, Ethnicity and Gender in the Social Sciences (REGSS) at Duke University. Randy’s research draws on social-psychology to explore the role of identity in political behavior. His book project, Interests and Identities in Racialized Voting, examines what motivates racialized voters to support racialized candidates. Canadian Journal of Political Science, "Rainbow Coalitions or Inter-Minority Conflict" explores similar issues. Randy’s current research focuses on the way that attacks and criticisms of identities affect motivation for political action.

Assistant Professor Alison Smith

Degrees
Ph.D. Universite de Montreal
M.A. University of British Columbia
B.A. Mount Allison University

Alison completed her PhD at l’Université de Montréal. She also holds an MA from UBC and a BA(Hons) from Mount Allison University. From 2009-2010, Alison was a Parliamentary Intern in Ottawa. Her research interests include the welfare state, social protection, homelessness, poverty and inequality. She will be starting July 1, 2017 as Assistant Professor in Canadian Politics at UTM. He specializes in post-Soviet politics and in the politics of law and courts in various countries, including Canada and the USA. Author of Soviet Criminologists and Criminal Policy (1978); Criminal Justice Policy: From Research to Reform (1983), Soviet Criminal Justice under Stalin (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1996)[a Russian-language edition Sovetskaia iustitsiia pri Staline was published by “ROSSPEN” in 1998 and reprinted in 2008]); Reforming Justice in Russia, 1864-1996: Power, Culture, and the Limits of Legal Order (Armonk, NY: Sharpe, 1997), editor and contributor; Courts and Transition in Russia: The Challenge of Judicial Reform (Boulder CO: Westview Press, 2000) with Todd Foglesong; Crime, Criminal Justice, and Criminology in Post-Soviet Ukraine (2001) with Todd Foglesong. Professor Solomon’s current research includes: judicial and legal reform in contemporary Russia and Ukraine; and law and courts in authoritarian and transitional states. He has been an active participant in judicial reform projects, including the Canada-Russia Judicial Partnership (2000-2008) and the Canada-Ukraine Judicial Cooperation Project (2006- 2014), both funded by CIDA. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Institut prava i publichnoi politiki (Moscow) and the editorial boards of three journals, and a former Director of the Centre for Russian and East European Studies at the Munk School of Global Affairs.
Graham White was born in Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, but grew up in Toronto where he attended St. Michael's College School and was one of the first students at the Keele Campus of York University. After earning a combined honours degree in Economics and Political Science at York he went to McMaster University for graduate work in Political Science. In 1979 he completed a PhD at McMaster; his thesis was on long-term voting patterns in Ontario.

In 1976, he became one of the first persons accepted into the Ontario Legislative Internship Program, run jointly by the Legislature and the Canadian Political Science Association. In 1978 he returned to Queen's Park to work in the Clerk's Office. Over the next six years, he provided procedural advice and administrative support to a number of legislative committees including the Public Accounts Committee, the Procedural Affairs Committee, the Select Committee on the Ombudsman and the Select Committee on Pensions. He also spent some time serving at 'the table' in the legislative chamber.

In 1984, he accepted a position in the Political Science Department at the University of Toronto's Erindale College (now the University of Toronto Mississauga). He holds the rank of Full Professor and served as Chair of the Department for some time. Since the late 1980s he has been visiting the Northwest Territories, Nunavut and the Yukon regularly and writing about politics there.

In addition to numerous articles in academic journals, he has written or edited 12 books, including The Ontario Legislature: A Political Analysis; Inside the Pink Palace; The Government and Politics of Ontario; Northern Governments in Transition and several editions of Politics: Canada. His book with David Cameron, Cycling into Saigon: The Conservative Transition in Ontario, was shortlisted for the Donner Foundation's award for the best book in Canadian public policy in 2001. His most recent published book is Cabinets and First Ministers; he has recently completed the manuscript for a book about the creation of Nunavut (co-authored with Jack Hicks).

He is currently at work on two books: one on the regulatory and wildlife management boards established under the settled comprehensive land claims settlements in the territorial North and one on provincial and territorial cabinet decision-making processes since the 1970s.

Professor White has formerly served as President of the Canadian Political Science Association and currently serves as co-editor of the Canadian Journal of Political Science.

Arnd Jurgensen was born in Germany and moved to the US in his teens, where he completed his BA at New York University. He came to Canada to do his M.A. and Ph.D. at the University of Toronto in the field of Comparative Politics of Developing Countries. He spent a year doing research for his doctoral dissertation in Venezuela and has traveled widely throughout Latin America, Asia and Africa. He has taught at U.B.C., Wilfred Laurier University, McMaster University and the Faculty of Applied Sciences and Engineering at the University of Toronto, before coming to U.T.M.. He has written on topics ranging from regime change and democratization in Latin America to sustainable development and U.S. foreign policy.

Justin Bumgardner

Degrees
Ph.D.  University of Illinois
M.A.  University of Illinois
B.A.  Lyon College

Dr. Justin Bumgardner earned a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. He specializes in international relations, with a particular interest in war and conflict. He has done research and published in the areas of military conflict management of enduring rivalries and humanitarian intervention. He has been recognized multiple times for the high quality of his teaching. Courses that he has taught at the University of Toronto include POL 112 (Democracy in Theory and Practice), POL 208 (Introduction to International Relations), POL 218 (Introduction to Comparative Politics), POL 310 (Managing International Military Conflict), and POL 343 (Politics of Global Governance).

Aslan Amani

Degrees
Ph.D.  London School of Economics
M.Sc.  London School of Economics
B.A.  University of Toronto

Aslan Amani (PhD, LSE, 2013; MSc, LSE, 2009, Hon. B.A., University of Toronto, 2008) received his PhD in political theory from the Department of Government at the London School of Economics and Political Science. Aslan's PhD dissertation (Is Democratic Multiculturalism Really Possible?) examined the normative interplay of democratic theory with multiculturalism. He is currently completing a book manuscript on democratic multiculturalism. Aslan has taught political science and political theory at the University of Toronto Mississauga, McMaster University, Trent University and the London School of Economics and Political Science.
David Pond

Degrees  Ph.D.  University of Toronto
         M.A.   University of Western Ontario
         B.A.   University of Western Ontario

Kristin Cavoukian

Degrees  Ph.D.  University of Toronto
         M.A.   University of British Columbia
         B.A.   Carleton University

Kristin Cavoukian holds a doctorate in Political Science from the University of Toronto. Her research focuses on state-diaspora relations, and how states encourage the formation of loyal and compliant organizations of their compatriots abroad. Her areas of interest include the former Soviet Union, the South Caucasus, the intersection of nationalism and gender, and the legacy of Soviet nationalities policies for post-Soviet nation building. She has taught courses on ethnicity and nationalism, global politics, and comparative politics.

George Wootten

Degrees  Ph.D.  Queen's University (in progress)
         M.A.   University of Western Ontario
         B.A.   University of Waterloo

George Wootten is a PhD candidate (ABD) in Political Studies at Queen's University. He has been teaching at UTM since 2005 – teaching POL 336 (Ontario Politics) and POL 369 (Media and Politics). Broadly speaking, he is interested in the different levels of Canadian politics (federal, provincial and local), as well as comparative political communication. More specifically, he is interested in the politics of the blame process - how blame is generated, assigned and avoided in Canadian political life.
In Memoriam

Professor Ana Maria Bejarano

Early on March 28, 2017, the UTM and entire University of Toronto community lost our dear colleague and friend, Professor Ana Maria Bejarano, to cancer. A deeply devoted teacher in the Department of Political Science, Ana Maria touched thousands of students through her courses on comparative politics and Latin America and even broader audiences through her research scholarship on democratization and constitutionalism in the Andes region. Hailing originally from Bogotá, Colombia, she remained deeply committed to collaborating with her research colleagues in the Andean region.

After obtaining her BA in Political Science at the University of Los Andes, Ana Maria completed her MA, MPhil and PhD, at Columbia University. She then returned to her alma mater, teaching in Bogotá for a decade before taking visiting fellowships at the University of Notre Dame (2000-1) and Princeton University (2001-3). She joined the Political Science faculty at UTM in 2003, authoring publications such as Precarious Democracies: Understanding Regime Stability and Change in Colombia and Venezuela (University of Notre Dame Press, 2011). She also co-edited (with S. Mainwaring and E. Pizarro), The Crisis of Democratic Representation in the Andes (Stanford University Press, 2006). She was an active participant in projects designed to analyze and monitor the quality of democracy in the Andes.

Ana Maria brought to each of her interactions great intellectual acumen, unshakable personal integrity, and a refreshing sense of humour. She touched us all enormously. We will miss her deeply and extend our most heartfelt condolences to her entire family and to all her friends.

Academic Information
The following list of courses is tentative. For confirmation of what courses will be offered in 2017-2018, students should consult the UTM website for updates on the timetable.

100-Level Courses

100-level POL courses are designed to introduce students to different approaches to studying politics and to some of the theories and concepts employed by political scientists. No 100-series course is a prerequisite for upper-year POL courses.

POL111H5F - Canada in Comparative Perspective
Examines major facets of Canadian government and politics within a broad comparative context asking what is different or unique about Canada and what resembles political systems elsewhere in the world, primarily western industrialized countries. Comparative analysis is used to foster a deeper understanding of Canada and its politics.
Exclusion: POL224Y1

POL 112H5S - Democracy in Theory and Practice
Examines current ideas about what constitutes 'democracy' and how real-world political systems measure up to democratic ideals. Through examination of formal government institutions and informal political practices, assessments will be made of the strengths and weaknesses in modern democracies. Case studies may be drawn from Canada or from other countries which claim to be democratic.
Exclusion: POLA51H3
POL113H5F&S - Ideas and Ideologies
In this course students are introduced to basic concepts in politics such as authority, sovereignty, legitimacy, citizenship, jurisdiction, civil rights and civil liberties. These concepts are then used to examine the fundamental differences between major political ideologies, such as democracy, liberalism, socialism, fascism, conservatism, anarchism and communism.

POL114H5F&S - Politics in the Global World
Examines the politics of globalization in its various forms (economics, cultures, environmental and military) as well as the consequences of, management of and resistance to, globalization. Addresses topics such as whether globalization challenges the capacity of national societies and their governments to deal with global issues such as the environment, redistribution of wealth, security and human rights, both within countries and across borders.
200 level courses require standing in either one full 100 level political science course or at least 4.0 credits.

POL200Y5Y - Political Theory
The development of political thought to the 17th century. Among the theorists examined are Plato, Aristotle, Machiavelli, Hobbes and Locke.
Prerequisites: 1.0 POL credit/4.0 credits

POL203Y5Y - Politics and Government of the United States
A comparative study of the development of American government and the main elements of the American political tradition; the structure and functioning of executives, legislatures, courts, bureaucracies, parties and pressure groups in federal and state government; characteristic processes of American politics such as voting, bargaining and regulation; and resultant patterns of public policy.
Prerequisites: 1.0 POL credit/4.0 credits

POL208Y5Y - Introduction to International Relations
Themes: What causes war? How can peace be achieved and sustained? What is the nature of international society and order? What trends are emerging in international affairs as we begin a new century? The main goal of the course is to provide the conceptual and theoretical tools to understand and study world affairs in order to address these questions. Will critically assess the nature and role of actors, institutions, and political and economic forces in shaping world events.
Prerequisites: 1.0 POL credit/4.0 credits

POL214Y5Y - Canadian Government and Politics
Canada’s political system: its key governmental institutions, especially cabinet and Parliament; federalism; the Charter of Rights and Freedoms; political parties and voting behaviour; ideologies and political culture, public opinion and pressure groups; regionalism and Quebec. Useful as a general course on Canada and as a foundation for more specialized study.
Prerequisites: 1.0 POL credit/4.0 credits
POL218Y5Y - Introduction to Comparative Politics
An introduction to the main themes, concepts and methods in comparative politics. Comparative politics compares the ways people and institutions interact, in different countries and regions of the world (including both developing and developed), to produce what we call "politics." The course brings to bear different interpretive frameworks (political culture, political economy, identity politics, and institutional analysis) to help us understand this interaction. Topics include: the formation, development and eventual decay of political institutions such as the nation-state, political regimes, parties, party systems and local governments; the ideas and interests shaping political behaviour and the reasons why, and the ways in which groups mobilize politically.
Prerequisites: 1.0 POL credit/4.0 credits

POL242Y5Y - Methods
This course offers an introduction to political science research methods. The course will cover basic approaches to political science, the choices that researchers have to make when designing their research and basic methods of analysis for both qualitative and quantitative data. Topics include: validity and reliability, levels of measurement, questionnaire design, experiments, elite interviews, participant observation and policy evaluation.
Prerequisites: 1.0 POL credit/4.0 credits

JPE250Y5Y - Environmental Politics in Canada
This course will be held online
Analyzes environmental issues in Canadian politics. Topics include: regulation and property rights, the politics of agenda-setting; sustainable development; science in politics; the impact of federalism; and global influences on domestic policy-making. Substantive issues could include climate change, biodiversity, drinking water, land use and the degradation of natural resources.
Prerequisites: 1.0 POL credit/4.0 credits
Exclusions: ENV 250Y5Y
300 level courses are advanced courses designed for 3rd and 4th year students who have completed several courses in a number of fields in Political Science. They are not appropriate for students in 2nd year (that is students who have not completed at least 8 courses). Students must not enroll in courses for which they do not have the prerequisites. Prerequisites will be rigorously enforced.

POL301H5F - Topics in Political Theory, Equality: Debates and Decisions in U.S. Supreme Court Cases
The course uses landmark cases by the U.S. Supreme Court to examine various theoretical approaches to the complex issues of protecting and promoting political equality.
Prerequisite: POL200Y

POL302Y5Y - Politics of Western Europe and the European Union
Political institutions and processes in Western Europe, with special reference to Britain, France, Germany and Italy. Evolution of the European Union, its institutions and policy-making system.
Exclusion: POL 207Y1, POLB93H3
Prerequisite: 2.0 POL credits, including POL218Y5

POL303Y5Y - The Politics of Islam
The course examines the theory and practice of Islamic politics in the modern era. It also looks at Western foreign policy and Western cultural reactions to politics in the Muslim world. The aim is to acquaint students with the diversity within the Muslim world and help them better understand some of the most pressing political issues raised by contemporary Islam.
Prerequisites: any 2.0 POL credits
Exclusions: POL300Y5, POL300Y1
POL304Y5Y - Politics of South Asia
This course surveys systems of government and political processes across South Asia, with attention to state-society relations, regime type, social movements, democratic governance, and political economy.
Prerequisites: HIS 282H or POL 218Y or permission of instructor

POL309Y5Y - The State, Planning and Markets
A study of the political economy of planning and markets, the history of both forms of organization, the political philosophies of liberalism and Marxism upon which they have been based, and the issues of economic efficiency, justice and democratic control in capitalism and socialism.
Prerequisite: POL200Y

POL310Y5 - Managing International Military Conflict
Analysis of different aspects of conflict management, including security regimes, U.N. peacekeeping, mediation, bilateral as well as multilateral techniques. [48L]
Exclusion: POLC09H3
Prerequisite: POL208Y5

POL320Y5Y - Modern Political Thought
The development of political thought in the 18th and 19th centuries, including Rousseau, Burke, Hume, Kant, Hegel, the English Utilitarians (Bentham and J.S. Mill), Marx and Nietzsche.
Prerequisites: POL200Y5

POL322Y5Y - Enlightenment and Theocracy
A survey of modern political theories, from Machiavelli onwards, bearing on the problem of religion and politics. The course includes discussions of Hobbes, Spinoza, Locke, Rousseau, and Kant, as well as anti-liberal thinkers such as Maistre and Nietzsche. Themes include toleration, the Enlightenment, civil religion, and theocracy.
Prerequisite: POL 200Y, but POL 320Y is recommended
POL327Y5Y - Comparative Foreign Policy (SSc)
Comparative study of the foreign policies of Russia/USSR, the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany.
Prerequisites: POL208Y5

POL336Y5Y – Ontario Politics
Examines the influence of social and economic forces on contemporary Ontario politics, with emphasis on major recent changes in the Ontario political system. Topics include: political parties and elections, structures of governance (cabinet, legislature, etc.), local government and selected public policy issues.
Exclusion: POL336H1
Prerequisite: POL100Y5/102Y1/(110H5, 111H5)/214Y5

POL340Y5Y – International Law
International law as an instrument of conflict resolution. Recognition, sovereign immunity, subjects of international law, and jurisdiction are some of the subjects examined.
Exclusion: POL 340Y1
Prerequisite: POL208Y5

POL343Y5Y - Politics of Global Governance
Examines the changing nature and forms of governance in the international system. It explores why and how international institutions and organizations arise; the goals, roles, and effectiveness of institutions in managing global problems and creating order and stability, and whether the rules and norms created by such institutions alter state behaviour, influence domestic policies, and/or challenge state sovereignty.
Exclusion: POL 343Y1, POLC87H3
Prerequisite: POL208Y5
POL346Y5Y - Urban Politics (SSc)
This course examines urban politics and policy problems in both a Canadian and comparative context. Students will be introduced to the key theories and concepts of urban politics scholarship as well as the important policy issues facing contemporary cities such as globalization, sustainability, immigration, and regionalism.
Prerequisites: Any 2.0 POL credits.

POL355Y5Y – Multiculturalism and Citizenship
How are laws, policies, and social norms affected by the overwhelmingly multicultural character of contemporary societies? This course examines how the realities of contemporary multiculturalism have reshaped civic life, both in Canada and in other societies. The course will attempt to cover both empirical and theoretical-normative approaches to these issues.
Exclusion: POLC58H3
Prerequisite: Any 2.0 POL credits

JEP356H5S - Environmental Justice
Environmental Justice is about the fair treatment of all people in the creation and implementation of environmental policies. It also provides a critical framework to analyze and understand inequalities of an environmental kind. These inequalities are often based around identities of race, class and gender, such that marginalized groups are made to bear the burden of environmental externalities like pollution. Why are First Nations in Canada less likely to have access to safe drinking water? Why are industrial plants often in low-income neighborhoods? After critical examinations of the theories and foundations of environmental justice, this course uses a case study approach to understanding the concepts and the ways in which it has shaped modern society.
Prerequisite: 8.5 credits
POL368H5F - Women, Gender and Politics
An introduction to gender and politics that examines women as political actors and their activities in formal and grassroots politics. The course also explores the impact of gender in public policy and how public policies shape gender relations. Exclusion: POL 351Y1, POL 450H1
Prerequisite: 2.0 POL credits

POL369Y5Y - Media and Politics
The role of the mass media in shaping (perceptions of) the political world and in enhancing or diminishing democracy; government regulation of media; the question of bias in political reporting; media ownership and concentration; the political significance of 'new' media; the interplay of media technology and politics. Prerequisites: 2.0 POL credits/2.0 CCIT/VCC credits
Exclusions: POL213Y

POL390H5F - Topics: Russian Politics
This course provides students with the tools to understand the politics of Russia today. After background on the nature of the Soviet system, the course turns to consider topics like the changing political economy, the nature of informal relations, the dynamics of protest and repression, and the use and abuse of law. Prerequisite: POL 218Y5
POL390H5S - L0101 - Topics: Cyberpolitics
This course will examine various aspects of politics and cyberspace—from domestic, to international and transnational-level interactions and impact. It will focus on issues like the growing role of information and communication technologies in democratic and authoritarian domestic politics and global civil society, the prospects of international economic development and trade in the age of the internet, the evolution of cyber-security and cyber-warfare, the threat of cyber-terrorism, as well as the emergent efforts towards governance of cyberspace.
Prerequisite: POL 218Y5

POL390H5S - L0102 - Topics: The New Populism
The New Populism: From Chávez and Le Pen to Donald J. Trump
What is populism and how does it shape the nature of political competition? Can democratic institutions survive the rise of the new populism? This course considers a variety of examples, including Venezuela, France, and—most visibly—the United States, as we address this rising tide of populist politics.
Prerequisite: POL 218Y5

Enrolment in 400-series courses is restricted to Political Science Specialists and Joint Specialists. Priority will be given to students with 14.0 credits or more.

1) 400-series POL courses are limited to POL Specialists and Joint Specialists;
2) No POL Specialist may take more than 2.0 POL credits at the 400-level (1.0 for Joint Specialists).
POL438H5F - Topics in Comparative Politics - Race and Violence
This course surveys contemporary cases of ethnic and racial violence, each located in a different region of the world: the Balkans, the United States, and the Great Lakes of Central Africa. The course aims to familiarize students with the relevant empirical and theoretical literatures produced by scholars, journalists, and regional experts. The focus of inquiry will be on the historical and contemporary dynamics, processes, and mechanisms of political violence commonly categorized as “ethnic” or “racial” in nature. Through in-depth study of select cases, the course seeks to provide students with the tools to assess case study materials with an eye toward the normative biases, logical inconsistencies, and unquestioned assumptions that often drive reporting and analyses of violent conflict.
Prerequisite: POL218Y5

POL440Y5Y – Politics and Governments of Eastern Europe
Comparative analysis of the former Communist states of Eastern Europe and the post-Communist successor states. [48S]
Prerequisite: POL204Y5/208Y5/354Y5

JEP452H5 - Politics and Policy of Wildlife Conservation
This course is an in-depth analysis of conservation policy in Canada. The course begins with an overview biodiversity crisis facing the planet and then moves to an overview of Canada’s approach to managing biodiversity across the country. We will carefully examine the federal Species at Risk Act as well as the provincial and territorial wildlife legislation. The remaining of the course will be aimed at making improvements to the Canadian strategy. During the course of the semester, the students will focus on the recovery of endangered species in Canada through the development of a recovery strategy for a specific species.[24L]
Exclusion: ENV452H5
Prerequisite: ENV100Y5, ENV250H5
POL475H5F - Global Environmental and Sustainability Politics
This course examines the challenges faced by humanity in dealing with global environmental and sustainability problems and the politics of addressing them. Focuses on both the underlying factors that shape the politics of these problems - such as scientific uncertainty, North-South conflict, equity concerns, globalization and production and consumption patterns - and explores attempts at the governance of specific global or transnational environmental and sustainability issues by state and non-state actors.
Prerequisite: POL 208Y5

POL476H5F - Topics in Political Economy: State and Economy in Contemporary Capitalism
This course explores a central issue in the field of comparative political economy, the relationship between the state and the economy in contemporary capitalist societies. It pays particular attention to the role that political factors play in accounting for the different ways in which individual states have responded to challenges in organizing the management of their respective national economies.
Restrictions:
1) 400-series POL courses are limited to POL Specialists and Joint Specialists;
2) No POL Specialist may take more than 2.0 POL credits at the 400-level (1.0 for Joint Specialists).

POL478Y5F - Moral Reason and Economic History
A study of the interaction between political philosophy and economic history. The course involves alternative conceptions of the relation between individuals and the community, between the economy and the political order, between what 'is' and what 'ought to be.'
Prerequisite: POL320Y5
Restrictions:
1) 400-series POL courses are limited to POL Specialists and Joint Specialists;
2) No POL Specialist may take more than 2.0 POL credits at the 400-level (1.0 for Joint Specialists).
POL 484Y5Y – Topics: Tragedy and Political Theory
The course compares plays, ranging from ancient Greece to contemporary theatre, to major works of political theory by Plato, Machiavelli, Hobbes and Marx. Prerequisites: POL320Y5
Restrictions:
1) 400-series POL courses are limited to POL Specialists and Joint Specialits; 2) No POL Specialist may take more than 2.0 POL credits at the 400-level (1.0 for Joint Specialists).

POL485H5S - Topics in Political Thought: Four Critics of Modernity
This seminar course will survey texts by four leading thinkers of the 20th-21st centuries: Hannah Arendt, Alasdair MacIntyre, Hans-Georg Gadamer, and Michel Foucault. It will comprise both lectures given by the instructor and seminar presentations given by the students. We will alternate between lectures and seminar presentations.
Prerequisite: POL320Y
Restrictions:
1) 400-series POL courses are limited to POL Specialists and Joint Specialits; 2) No POL Specialist may take more than 2.0 POL credits at the 400-level (1.0 for Joint Specialists).

POL487H5S - Topics in International Relations: Politics and Violence in South Asia
Prerequisite: POL208Y5
Restrictions:
1) 400-series POL courses are limited to POL Specialists and Joint Specialits; 2) No POL Specialist may take more than 2.0 POL credits at the 400-level (1.0 for Joint Specialists).

Student-initiated reading and research courses are available, please refer to the current academic calendar
The Specialist Program in History and Political Science allows students to do work in two closely related disciplines. Students are encouraged to plan their programs so as to take advantage of the opportunity to do work in related courses consecutively or concurrently.

Joint work in Political Science and another discipline provides an interesting course of studies for many students. The Major Program in Political Science has been designed for such students.

The Major Program introduces students to some of the principal fields within the discipline and requires some work in Political Theory. Some appropriate combinations are Political Science and History, Political Science and Sociology, Political Science and Management, and Political Science and a language.

Students whose chief interest is in another discipline may wish to select Political Science as a secondary area of interest and to enroll in the Minor program in Political Science.

Students specializing in a discipline other than Political Science may wish to take one or more political science courses to complement their studies in their chosen discipline. For example, a student specializing in psychology may take one of the 100-level courses in Political Science to acquire some idea of the nature and scope of the discipline. A student interested in the Slavic languages may wish to complement work in languages and literature with work in Soviet or Eastern European politics and government. A student taking a theme program such as Urban Studies or Canadian may select political science courses that will round out an “approved area of study.”
POLITICAL SCIENCE MAJOR Program Plan

1ST YEAR

PLAN YOUR ACADEMICS

- Courses offered include POL111H5, 112H5, 113H5 and 114H5.
- Choose a program of study (Subject POS) once you complete 4.0 credits. Use the Degree Explorer Planner and the Academic Calendar to plan your degree.
- Start strong and get informed with U MINONE and LAUNCH through the Office of Student Transition. Join a RGASC Peer Facilitated Study Group.

2ND YEAR

Enrol in courses POL200Y5 and POL214Y5. Over the course of your degree, attain 1.0 credits from two of three fields of study in Political Science. View the Academic Calendar for additional degree requirements.

- Throughout your undergraduate degree:
  - use the Degree Explorer to ensure you complete your degree and program requirements.
  - see the Office of the Registrar and the Political Science Academic Counsellor for one-on-one assistance.

BUILD SKILLS

- Use the Co-Curricular Record (CCR). Search for opportunities beyond the classroom, and keep track of your accomplishments.
- Attend the Get Experience Fair through the Career Centre (CC) to learn about on- and off-campus opportunities.

BUILD A NETWORK

- Networking simply means talking to people and developing relationships with them. Start by joining the Political Science & Pre-Law Association (PSLA) and attend PSLA Professor Meet & Greet.
- Get to know your TA. View the TA Schedule on the Political Science website.
- Visit the UTM Library Reference Desk.

BUILD A GLOBAL MINDSET

- Attend events held by the International Education Centre (IEC) to explore different cultures through food, music, and sport or through sight-seeing around the GTA.
- Embark on a UTM Abroad Co-Curricular Experience through the IEC. Take advantage of this opportunity to travel with a faculty member and learn about a topic of interest in a unique location.
- Prefer traveling in Canada? Check out the IEC’s UTM Across Canada program.

PLAN FOR YOUR FUTURE

- Attend the Program Selection & Career Options workshop offered by the Office of the Registrar and the CC.
- Check out Careers by Major at the CC to see potential career options.
- Explore careers through the CC’s Extern Job Shadowing Program.
- Considering further education? Attend the CC’s Graduate and Professionals School Fair. Talk to professors—they are potential mentors and references.

Consult the Academic Calendar for greater detail on course requirements, program notes and degree requirements.
HOW TO USE THIS PROGRAM PLAN

Read through each year, investigate what appeals to you here and in any other Program Plans that apply to you. Visit www.utm.utoronto.ca/program-plans to create your own plan using My Program Plan. Update your plan yearly.

3RD YEAR

- At least 2.6 credits at the 300 level.
- Consider applying for the Research Opportunity Program (ROP) course POL399Y. Visit the EEO website for ROP Course Prerequisites. Attend the RGASC’s P.A.R.T. to enhance your research skills.

4TH OR FINAL YEAR

- Why not gain some hands-on practical work experience? View listings for national and international internship opportunities on the UofT Political Science website.
- Log on to ACORN and request graduation.

Interested in current events and raising student awareness of key issues?

- Write for The Medium — the source of news for UTM students. Why not run for PSLA Office and build your skills while getting involved?

Skills are transferrable to any job, regardless of where you develop them.

- Need to strengthen your presentation skills? Consider a role as a RGASC Facilitated Study Group Leader.

Establish a professional presence on social media (e.g., LinkedIn, Facebook, Twitter or blogs).

- Learn about local issues! Consider a CSE Alternative Reading Week (ARW) to become engaged with the local community.

Join a professional association. Check out the Canadian Political Science Association (CPSA).

- Attend the UTM Public Affairs Lecture offered by the Political Science department. Go to a conference such as the CPSA Annual Conference.

Earn credits overseas! Study for a summer, term or year at one of 120 universities. The Political Science department has identified 7 partners who are most relevant to their students. Speak to the IEC for details about Course Based Exchange and funding.

Why not work abroad? Read up on worldwide employment trends and industry outlooks through GoingGlobal. Attend the Go Global Expo. See if you are eligible for International Experience Canada.

What's your next step after undergrad?

- Entering the workforce? Evaluate your career options through a CC Career Counselling appointment. Create a job search strategy — book a CC Employment Advising appointment.
- Considering further education? Research application requirements, prepare for admission tests (LSAT, MCAT), and research funding options (OGS, SSHRC).

Market your skills to employers. Get your resume critiqued at the CC. Attend the CC workshop Now That I'm Graduating What's Next?

- Write a strong application for further education. Attend the CC’s Mastering the Personal Statement workshop.
