

1 Course Modification:

ISP010H5: Basics of Writing in English (BoWiE)

Contact Hours:

Previous: Seminar: 18

New: Seminar: 20

Description:

This non-credit ~~ten 9-week course, usually beginning in~~ week ~~course 2 of the term,~~ is specifically designed to help students build skills that will assist in the completion of their written academic course work. Students in the course will learn to communicate their ideas in written form, applying skills in English mechanics and usage through in-course practice. Students who wish to improve their basic English writing skills, or who do not reach the threshold score on the competency assessment delivered in the first week of ISP100H5 Writing for University and Beyond, should take this course to develop their skills for university work and ensure successful completion of ISP100H5. No credit is awarded for this course, and it begins in week 2 of the academic term, following the competency assessment for ISP100H5.

Rationale:

ISP010H is currently being taught as a 10-week course, so we are modifying course description to indicate this. The contact hours have also been updated to reflect this change.

Resources:
