LINGUISTICS (HBA)
Department of Language Studies

Linguistics is the scientific study of language. At the heart of linguistics is understanding language in the mind: What is the nature of the unconscious knowledge that humans have of language? How do we process this knowledge? How do children acquire language? How do languages vary? What properties are common to all human languages? How does language influence the way we interact with each other? Linguistics Major is a program that will give you insight into one of the most defining features of being human: the ability to communicate through language. Our program provides a strong foundation in the core aspects of human language: sounds (phonetics and phonology), words (morphology), sentences (syntax), and meaning (semantics). The world-class expertise of our faculty also allow students to apply their foundational knowledge via courses and research opportunities to areas such as how language varies depending on group, situation, or region (sociolinguistics), how language varies over time (historical linguistics), how people use language in context (pragmatics and discourse analysis), how people acquire or learn language, and how it is taught. Students can also investigate how to model aspects of language (theoretical and computational linguistics) and how people process language (psycholinguistics).

MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR TIME AT UTM!

We want to help you maximize your university experience, so we’ve pulled together information and interesting suggestions to get you started, although there are many more! As you review the chart on the inside pages, note that many of the suggestions need not be restricted to the year they are mentioned. In fact, activities such as joining an academic society, engaging with faculty and seeking opportunities to gain experience should occur in each year of your study at UTM. Read through the chart and create your own plan using My Program Plan found at www.utm.utoronto.ca/program-plans

How are children able to learn more than one language at a time? Take LIN388H5 to examine the bilingual brain, the nature of input and age constraints on language acquisition. Curious about cross-cultural communication? In LIN486H5 you’ll examine the cross-cultural language use by second language learners.

What can I do with my degree?

The career you choose will depend on your experience and interests. Visit the Career Centre to explore your career options.

Careers and workplaces for graduates:

Industry: speech recognition, artificial intelligence, natural language processing
Rehabilitation sciences: speech language pathology, audiology
Education: teach a language, teacher training, assessment design, educational research
Language documentation and revitalization: document, analyze, revitalize (endangered) languages; help establish literacy programs and language training programs
LINGUISTICS MAJOR Program Plan

HOW TO USE THIS PROGRAM PLAN

Read through each year. Investigate what appeals to you here and in any other Program Plans that apply to you.

Visit www.utm.utoronto.ca/program-plans to create your own plan using My Program Plan.

Update your plan yearly.

1ST YEAR

- Begin with a solid introduction to linguistics. Enrol in courses LIN101H5 and LIN102H5.
- Choose a program of study (Subject POS) once you complete 4.0 credits. Use the Degree Explorer and the Academic Calendar to plan your degree.
- Develop foundational academic skills and strategies by enrolling in a uLINC course. Build community and gain academic support through LAUNCH. Join a RGASC Peer Facilitated Study Group.

2ND YEAR

- Build a solid foundation of knowledge and skills. Enrol in courses LIN228H5, 229H5, 231H5/237H5, 232H5, and 256H5/288H5. Attain 1.0 credits in a language course.
- Consider applying for Research Opportunity Program (ROP) courses LIN599Y5 and LIN999Y5. Visit the EEU website for ROP Course Prerequisites. Attend the RGASC’s Program for Accessing Research Training (P.A.R.T.) to enhance your research skills.

3RD YEAR

- Broaden your knowledge and apply it in different ways. Enrol in one course from three of the six categories listed in the Academic Calendar for a total of 1.5 credits.
- Throughout your undergraduate degree:
  - use the Degree Explorer to ensure you complete your degree and program requirements.
  - see the Office of the Registrar and the Language Studies Undergraduate Counsellor.

4TH OR FINAL YEAR

- Deepen your interests, engage in research, and communicate your knowledge. Attain 2.0 addition credits at the 300/400 level from an extensive list in the Academic Calendar. Attain a minimum of 0.5 credits at the 400 level.
- Log on to ACORN and request graduation.

BUILD SKILLS

- Use the Co-Curricular Record (CCR). Search for opportunities beyond the classroom, and keep track of your accomplishments.
- Attend the Get Experience Fair through the Career Centre (CC) to learn about on- and off-campus opportunities.

BUILD A NETWORK

- Networking simply means talking to people and developing relationships. Start by joining the Linguistics League. Follow them on Facebook and Twitter @UTMLSGS or join the Language Studies Academic Society (LSAS). Follow them on Facebook @utmlsas.
- Attend the Linguistics League and the LSAS Meet and Greet gatherings. Visit the UTM Library Reference Desk.

BUILD A GLOBAL MINDSET

- Attend events held by the International Education Centre (IEC), whether you are an international or domestic student. Explore your culture and other cultures through weekly/regular conversations, Language Conversation Circles, debates, and activities to enhance your global and intercultural mindset.
- Engage in programs like the Global and Intercultural Fluency Training Series (GIFTS) or learn about and prepare for a future UTM Abroad Experience through the IEC to strengthen and enhance your intercultural skill set, and learn about other cultures while sharing your own!

PLAN FOR YOUR FUTURE

- Attend the Program Selection & Career Options workshop offered by the Office of the Registrar and the CC.
- Check out Careers by Major at the CC to see potential career options.

Skills developed in Linguistics

To be competitive in the job market, it is essential that you can explain your skills to an employer. Visit the Career Centre to learn how to articulate and market the following skills:

Technical: knowledge of the various abstract structural subsystems of human language; knowledge of how humans produce and process language; knowledge of how babies acquire their language(s); how language(s) are learned as an adult; how it varies and changes through space and time.

Research: Experience with hands-on experimental methods; collecting data; quantifying data; analysing data; application of data to theoretical models; engaging in the development of linguistic theory.

Analytical: Analytic reasoning; critical thinking; methods of argumentation; formulating hypotheses; generating predictions; making careful observations.

Communication and interpersonal: Proficiency in oral and written expression; communicating complex information to a variety of audiences; awareness of how language is modulated according to social contexts; awareness of and respect for linguistic and cultural diversity.

FUTURE STUDENTS

Admission to UTM

All program areas require an Ontario Secondary School Diploma, or equivalent, with six Grade 12 U/M courses, or equivalent, including English. The admission average is calculated with English plus the next best five courses. The approximate average required for admission is mid- to high-70s. More information is available at utm.utoronto.ca/viewbook.

NOTE: During the application process, applicants will select the Humanities admissions category, but will not officially be admitted to a formal program of study (Specialist, Major, and/or Minor) until after first year.

Sneak Peek

How are words formed? What is their internal structure? This is the domain of morphology, and you can learn about it in LIN231H5. Have you ever noticed how the sentences you create are formed according to strict rules? Learn about this rule system in LIN232H5 Syntactic Patterns! How do we derive meaning from the units of language? How do units of meaning combine to make larger meanings? How do we account for meaning we can’t hear? These mysteries are revealed in LIN237H5 Semantics.

Are you curious about how language can vary and change according to our age, gender, ethnicity, and the social dynamics of different situations? Check out how in LIN256H5 Sociolinguistics. What about the mystery of how babies acquire language or how the human mind processes language input? You’ll be introduced to this field of inquiry in LIN288H5 Psycholinguistics and Language Acquisition.
