PSY100 Substitute Assignment
Impett Lab

Substitute Assignment Questions (for 1 credit)

Instructions: Click on the following article and answer the questions below in 2-3 pages, double-spaced.

When Giving Feels Good: The Intrinsic Benefits of Sacrifice in Romantic Relationships for the Communally Motivated

1) What is communal strength and what is meant by it being a relationship—rather than and individual—measure?

2) What is the role of authenticity in the link between communal strength and feeling good when sacrificing?

3) Which alternative hypotheses do the authors rule out?

4) What is one limitation of the study?

5) What is one potential future direction for the study of communal strength?

Send your answers to the Undergraduate Assistant (utmpsych.utm@utoronto.ca). You MUST use your 'utoronto' email address. Please use the subject line: "PSY100Y5 Substitute Assignment - Impett Lab." In the body of the email, please include your name and student number.

From the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters: “It shall be an offence for a student to knowingly: represent as one's own any idea or expression of an idea or work of another in any academic examination or term test or in connection with any other form of academic work, i.e. to commit plagiarism. Wherever in the Code an offence is described as depending on "knowing", the offence shall likewise be deemed to have been committed if the person ought reasonably to have known.” All students must refer to this website to obtain information on what constitutes plagiarism. http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/advice/using-sources/how-not-to-plagiarize

Plagiarism will not be tolerated.

University of Toronto Psychology Department